MIGRATION OF TOURISTS TO SOUTH BEGINS

First Snow Driving Legions Tourists to Florida.

200 AUTOS DAILY

Number to be Doubled in Thirty Days—Capt. Gilbreath Is Taking Hand In the Work.

"First flurries of snow in the north are sending hundreds of tourists south," declared N. Buckner, manager of the Asheville Motor Club, who was in town this morning. "Two hundred tourists cars are now passing through by Dixie 'A' route each day and this number will probably double during the next thirty days."

Capt. W. S. Gilbreath, manager of the Detroit Automobile club, having a membership of 40,000, in company with Mr. Buckner, E. G. Walker, president of the Kiwanis club at Berea, and Wade Chandler, of Corbin, met at Corbin Tuesday and motored through Laurel and Rockcastle counties to inspect the route there.

Capt. Gilbreath is trustee of the fund of $9,200 of the N. A. C. C. for improvement of Rout "A" in that section. These funds will be released at once and it is expected that work on the road south of Berea will begin next week. At present there are about three miles of rough road there, the surfacing of which needs improving.

Capt. Gilbreath was greatly impressed with the amount of work done here, in fact, he was so interested in it that he has gone to Chicago to assist in raising money to send here for maintenance of the road during the winter months. Work of mapping and logging the route is now in progress under his direction. This work extends along the route from Detroit to Florida, via Middlesboro and Asheville. Ed Matheson, manager of the tourist bureau, of Detroit is doing the work.

Mr. Matheson who was with Mr. Buckner here this morning says that the route is entirely passable all along the way and, when a few more places are improved and regularly maintained, it will be one of the finest routes in the country and the only logical one from the north to the south.

Improvement work on Dixie Route "A" began eleven months ago under direction of the Asheville and Western North Carolina Motor club. Towns all along the route were quick to realize the possibilities of united efforts and, almost without exception, leading citizens and civic clubs of the towns affected have given their whole-hearted co-operation in the work.

The route is coming now to be recognized from points north and middle west to the southern tourist resorts. Populous cities, like Detroit and Chicago, will send their residents by the thousands over this route because it is the shortest, best and offers that which none of the others can; Gorgeous mountain scenery unsurpassed by any in the entire country.

"There should be at least 45,0000 tourists through here this year," Mr. Buckner declared, "and next year the number should reach 200,000." All of these, he explained, will spend money liberally along the route and every town which the great tourist road ypasses through will get its share of the trade.

Mr. Buckner, who has been confined to a hospital for some time, has now entirely recovered and is on the job stronger than ever in creating and reviving interest in the road project all along the route. He and Mr. Matheson left for Asheville today.

Associated Press

ATTORNEY'S HOME DAMAGED BY BLAST

Bootleggers Thought Responsible for Damage to House at Princeton.

Associated Press

PRINCETON, Sept. 13—Bloodhounds were brought to Princeton today in an effort to trail persons responsible for the explosion at the front porch of the home of County Attorney S. B. Hodge at midnight. No arrests were made, the bloodhounds being unable to pick up a trail this morning.

The blast shattered all the windows of the home and ripped a section of the porch and the wall of the house. Members of the family sleeping on the second floor escaped without injury. The enemies who have recently harbored ill feelings against the attorney for his recent activity against bootleggers are thought to have planted the explosives. Officers expressed the belief that a stick of dynamite was used.

PANIC CAUSED BY FIRE IN SUBWAY

Several Persons Slightly Injured—Walk to Exit of the Tunnel.

Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—Several hundred passengers southbound on a Lexington avenue subway train were panic stricken today when a motor of the train caught fire because of a short circuit. The hospital surgeons treated several persons, none of them seriously injured. The panic occurred near the Grand Central station. Lights went out and smoke swept through the train. Passengers braved the dangers of the third rail and walked the tracks to the platform.

ROOSEVELT CABIN TO BE PRESERVED

Stone Shrine to House the Former Temporary Abode of Beloved Teddy.

Associated Press.

BISMARK, N. D., Sept. The Roosevelt Cabin, once occupied by Theodore Roosevelt when recuperating at the old Maltese Ranch, seven miles south of the village of Medora in the Little Missouri Bad Lands of North Dakota, is to be preserved in a fitting shrine, according to the State Historical Society of North Dakota.

Lewis F. Crawford, curator of the society, is preparing plans for a stone shrine of stately and substantial design to be erected over the building. Assistance through popular subscription from every state is being considered Mr. Crawford states, owing to requests from all sections for the shrine's establishment.

The cabin has historical interest in North Dakota and the northwest. No other building in the state has traveled as much. It was taken from the Maltese Ranch, where it had stood for more than 20 years, and shipped to the St. Louis Exposition in 1904. At the close of the exposition, the cabin was returned here and set up on the Capitol grounds.

The building is constructed of pine logs, cut on the upper waters of the Little Missouri in 1880-81.

Farmers Unite in Asking Gods to End Drought

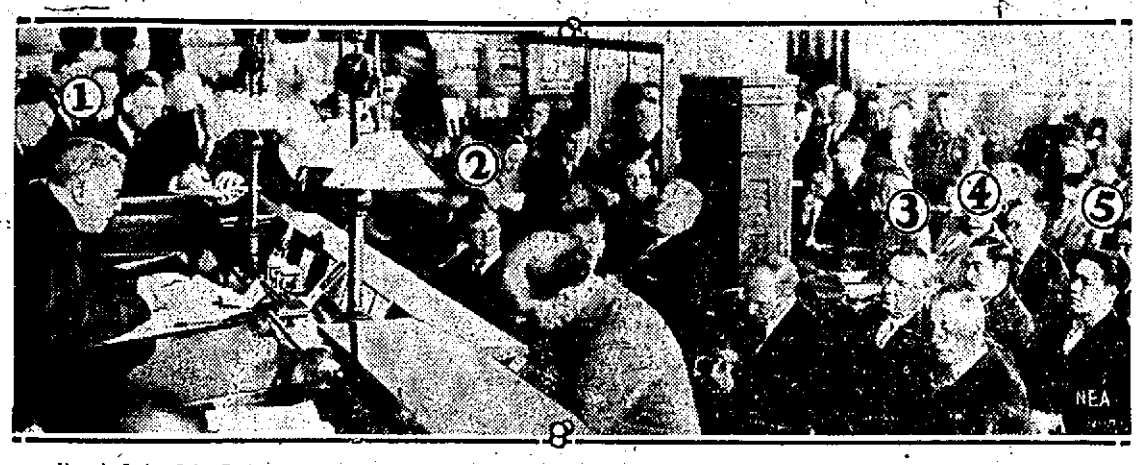
Associated Press

KIOTO, Japan, Sept. 13—More than 25,000 farmers participated in a prayer ceremony held recently in Funai county, Kioto prefecture, to pray to the ancient Shinto deities to send rain. Drought has been threatening the western and southern Japan with serious rice crop shortages this year.

The drought is causing quarrels among farming communities in various parts of southern Japan, where the water supply is inadequate. The governor of Kumamto prefecture has been asked to act as referee between two villages which are quarreling over the right of one higher up the stream that runs through both, to dam the stream to get water for its parched crops.

MURDERERS AWAITING NOOSE HAVE GLIMMER OF HOPE FROM LENIENCY SHOWN LOEB AND LEOPOLD

"To Prison for the Rest of Your Natural Lives—



Here is Judge John R. Caverly reading the sentence which banishes Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb to life imprisonment for the murder and kidnaping of Robert Franks. No. 1 is Judge Caverly. No. 2 shows Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, and No.) Defense Attorney Clarence S. Darrow. Leopold (No. 4) and Loeb (No 5) are shown listening with strained attention as the judge tells them their fate.

(By George Britt

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—It is a gay day in Chicago's gloomist spot — "Murderer's Row" in the county jail.

The sunshine and hopefulness still illumine the dusty shadows and drive away the prison atmosphere and formaldehyde and perspiration from the fourth tier.

And there a dozen waiting men—men who have taken human lives—breathe easier than they have for months.

Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb have escaped the rope! Now every head turns more securely.

"Sore about it? Well, I should say not," says 22-year-old, gray-haired Bernard Grant, who has a "date," with no possibility but the governor's clemency intervening, for October 17th.

"I figure this ought to mean a better chance for me and all of us. I'm glad.

"I just think they got a 'break' and I didn't" declares Walter Krauser, 21, Grant's partner in the slaying of a policeman two years ago.

"But I don't begrudge it to them."

Krauser once took a walk" to the death cell, but was granted an extension of time just five hours before the trap was to be sprung. The appeal he made during that reprieve still is pending before the state supreme court in Springfield.

Farther down the row of cells there floats a low humming of song from the quarters of Hugh Trivillian and Wills Sam, dusky murderers of a policeman.

"Red" Carroll, who is to be tried for the killing of another, policeman, is playing solitaire and winning.

Russell Scott, who pleaded guilty to killing a drug clerk during a robbery, was sentenced to death and then was permitted to withdraw his plea and fight his case, relaxes and smiles faintly through the bars.

Almost as Young

States Attorney Robert E. Crowe, in his plea for death for Leopold and Loeb, predicted it would be a "long time before there was another hanging in Cook county."

And Murderers' Row hasn't overlooked any chances to hope.

Young Grant was 20 when he was sentenced to the gallows, and Krauser was 19, a pair only a few months older than the two who have just escaped the noose because of their youth.

"I've had seven dates altogether," Grant tells you, listing his delays, reprieves and appeals.

"This hair turned gray between the time a new trial was denied and June 15, last year, which was the first date set. It's coming in brown again though, like it used to be.

"I don't worry any more and try to keep cheerful. You sort of build up your nerve here, so you feel you can get it over with whenever your date comes, no matter how.

Bridge Game Is Off

"All the chance I've got now is the governor. But after this, I think things look better. My mother and sister will go down and talk to him and maybe he'll commute the sentence.

"I thought this would be the way with Leopold and Loeb, with all that money, and their wonderful alienists and a great lawyer. And I don't think they'll stay down at Joliet more than seven or eight years with all that money working for them.

"It doesn't look like any human being could commit the crime they did. Yet they're nice boys."

"Once I was in the bull pen with Leopold and it looked like if they were given death they might get it October 17 with me. Leopold asked if I could play bridge. I said yes, and he laughed and said we could all play together the last night in the death cell. He just made a joke out of the whole thing.

"All the boys over here are glad they got off."

PROPOSE BETTER MAIL FACILITIES

Postmasters Propose Establishment Parcel Post Stations In All States.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 13—Establishment of parcel post and third class mail terminals in every state, to facilitate quicker handling of these classes of mail, will be among the recommendations to the U. S. Postoffice Department proposed by the National Association of Postmasters of the United States which meets here September 23 to 25.

Only a few large cities have such terminals at present, and the concentration of this type of mail in these cities is resulting in congestion which the postmasters believe can be relieved by establishing similar terminals in each state.

Other recommendations expected to be made is that the government bond its employees, adoption of legislation abolishing the compensatory time feature for employees who work on Sunday or holiday, new regulations which will permit return of mail posted with insufficient stamps to senders, and more stringent rules governing containers in which eggs may be shipped to reduce breakage in the mails. The speakers before the meeting include Postmaster General Harry S. New.

Radio Fans to Meet On Monday Evening

Radio fans of Middlesboro will meet at the Motch motor company garage at 7:30 o'clock Monday night to organize a radio club for Middlesboro.

All persons interested in radio sets are expected to be present and take part in the meeting. The radio season has already begun for this year and interest in the great indoor pastime is increasing. Indications are that the present number of radio fans will be doubled during the winter months.

An organized body of radio fans can do much to eliminate disturbances and a membership in the proposed organization will no doubt be beneficial to any one interested in radio.

Crowley President of East Tenn. Press Association

T. V. Crowley, editor of the Anderson County News, of Clinton, Tenn., was elected president of the East Tennessee Press Association at the closing session of the convention at the Lincoln Memorial University at Harrogate this morning. The convention adjourned at noon.

Sam Frame, editor of the Watchman, Jefferson City, was elected vice-president and Desmond Minge, editor of the Kingston Citizen, was chosen secretary and treasurer. Sevierville was selected as the convention town for next year.

Resolution commending the officials of the Lincoln Memorial University and others for the splendid hospitality extended to them during the convention was heartily endorsed. Every editor praised the work of the university and each pledged support, in the way of publicity, to the institution.

A part of the meeting this morning was in the nature of a round table discussion in which the work of running a country newspaper was the subject.

The banquet here last night at which the delegates were entertained by the Kiwanis club was a great success and one that highly pleased the visitors. Judge H. B. Lindsey was inimitable as a toastmaster. W. M. Clements, managing editor of the Knoxville Journal, made a splendid talk on newspaper work, his subject being "The Ethics of Journalism." Whether or not an editor has a formal code, the code to which he adheres is apparent in his newspaper day by day, he declared. In this connection he stated that he had been appointed as a committee of one to draft a code of ethics for the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association.

A. P. Liebig made the address of welcome. Each editor made a brief talk in which he told of the resources and natural advantabes of his town. T. R. Hill made one of his characteristic whirlwind addresses extolling the merits of Middlesboro.

Every phase of the program was highly enjoyable and one that will long be remembered by both the Kiwanians and the East Tennessee editors.

FLIERS TAKE OFF FROM WASHINGTON

Slight Damage Delays Departure Few Minutes—Weather Outlook Is Good.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—Army fliers began the last stage of their journey today, hopping off from Bowling Field for Dayton, O., at 10:50, eastern standard time.

During the preliminary maneuvering about the field a tail skid of the flag plane, Chicago, piloted by Lieut. Lowell Smith was slightly damaged but the task of repairing it occupied only a few minutes. The damage was described as of minor character.

Clearing of the atmosphere here and reports of better conditions enroute to Dayton prompted a change in the plans which previously contemplated a postponement of today's jump. No ceremonies attended the departure but a crowd of automobiles waited from dawn, the occupants cheering the fliers when they took off.

TOWNS PROHIBIT STOCK AT LARGE

Recent Act Allows Small Cities the Right to Pass Laws Against It.

Associated Press

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. The rhinings of stock at large in small towns, an age-old circumstance, now is prohibited in Kentucky.

Rep. Thomas J. Knight, Sharpsburg, Ky., introduced the prohibitive measure in the 1924 general assembly, and Gov. Fields made it law with his signed approval.

The act empowers the board of trustees of towns of the sixth class to prohibit horses, cattle, hogs, and other stock from running at large on the streets and alleys.

It enables these towns to pass ordinances and resolutions establishing and maintaining pounds, to make proper regulations for impounding and keeping stock when found within the town limits, "regardless of whether or not the owners of said stock reside within said towns, and fixing fees of officers for impounding, trial, and release of same, as well as penalties for the violation of said ordinance."

Sixth class towns are those having less than 1,000 population.

Detroit-Knoxville Trip in 25 Hours

What is believed to be a new record in overland travel was set by Mr. Green, of Cumberland Gap, and two other men in going from Detroit to Knoxville recently, via Middlesboro.

Mr. Green says that they made the trip in twenty-five hours. Leaving Detroit at 8:30 o'clock one morning, they arrived at Knoxville at 9:30 a. m. the following day. The three men took turns at driving the car and made the trip without mishap.

Such news as this contradict the reports that this route to the north is impassable at places or even in bad condition.

THE OPTIMISM OF POLITICIANS

What a joyous spirit is that of the practical politician! More optimistic than Candide, to whom all things happened for the best in the best of all possible worlds; more cheerful than Charles VII of France, of whom it was remarked that "no king could lose a kingdom with greater gayety;" more philosophical than Mark Tapley, whose ambition was "to come out jolly" under the most distressing circumstances, America's political leaders have schooled themselves to regard seeming adversity as a boon. Their silver lining have no clouds.

For example, there was an election in Maine Monday. A gentleman named Brewster, against whom all sorts of frightful allegations had been brought, turned out to be the successful candidate. He had been charged with such crimes as doubting the infallibility of the medical profession and not being suitably terrified by the menace of the Ku Klux Klan. He had been opposed for the nomination, up to the very point of fraudulent voting, by the forces against which the Klan arrays itself. His Democratic opponent made of the Klan the chief issue in his campaign. Notwithstanding all which Mr. Brewster, and his fellow Republicans, rolled up one of the heaviest majorities ever given to the G. O. P. ticket in Maine.

What is the Democratic response to the verdict in Maine? Are they downhearted? No! The eminent Clem Shaver, chairman of the Democratic National Committee says: "The election from a Democratic point of view is a victory." How happy and fortunate is one who posesses such a point of view. To such an one, involuntary bankruptcy would be a business triumph, and a shipwreck good omen for the future voyage. Mr. Shaver, manager of the Democratic eastern headquarters, tells that "the Democrats have won a moral victory in Maine." How admirable for a political manager to be content with a moral victory that leaves the offices to the presumably immoral opposition! Mr. John W. Davis, viewing the battle field from the vantage point of Denver, remarks that he "was not surprised." Wise man! So he.

Neither was anyone else who in forecasting the election in advance took into account the two dominant factors—Maine's normal Republicanism, and the nature of the campaign waged by Mr. Pattangall, the Democratic nominee.—Christian Science Monitor.

PRISON BARS FAIL TO STIFLE TALENT

Musician Serving Sentence Attains Wide Fame as Pianist of Ability.

Associated Press

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 13—Many people regard a prison as the last place in which to achieve fame, but the case of Harry Snodgrass, convice in the Missouri state penitentiary here, is an exception. For Harry, although serving a term behind the stone walls of the state prison, has not only achieved renown, but he has acquired nation-wide fame, as well—thanks due to radio. More than two years ago he was sentenced to serve three years on a charge of attempted robbery. He entered prison virtually unknown, but today his name is familiar to persons in almost every section of the country.

Harry brought a gift of his fingers with him. He is a pianist of rare ability and can play with extraordinary skill and technique, several masters have declared. Soon he was playing once a week or more at station WOS, the state radiocasting station, one of the most powerful in the country.

People began to write, asking who the "wonderful" pianist was. His name became known, and now Snodgrass' renditions both of popular and classical music are given to a wide radio audience.

What Harry will do when he gains his liberty is not known, but he can have his pick of a score of good positions playing the piano in several sections of the country, according to prison officials.

Starts Revival Tomorrow At Presbyterian Church

DR. JAMES L. McKEE

REVIVAL BEGINS HERE TOMORROW

Dr. McKee, Evangelist, Miss Harbeson, Singer, at Presbyterian Church.

A two weeks' revival service will begin tomorrow morning at the First Presbyterian Church with the Rev. James Lapsley McKee of Kansas City, Mo., as evangelist and Miss Mary Dan Harbeson of Flemingsburg as evangelistic singer. Both Dr. McKee and Miss Harbeson are particularly good in their work and their services here promise to be among the best ever held here.

Dr. McKee has held revival services all over this country. He is an earnest speaker and worker and not contenting himself with the usual every night services, he will hold special men's mass meetings, women's meetings and children's meetings every day. Dr. McKee is a great Bible student and his addresses are all based on the Gospel and the teachings found there.

Miss Harbeson has also had wide experience in her work. Her voice was trained for the concert stage but she has refused all offers there to devote her time to religious singing.

Besides her beautiful voice, she has an extremely lovely personality which wins her a high place in the hearts of those she meets wherever she goes.

Turkey Faces Problem Settling Countrymen

Associated Press

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 19—Turkey has a hard problem on its hands in the 350,000 Turks sent back to Turkey from Grecian territory in exchange for the 2,500,000 Greek subjects ejected from Asia Minor.

There is a lack of funds to indemnify the Turks who came back home and no money to erect homes and put them back on the land in Anatolia.

Anatolia.

"Turkey for the Turks" still continues to be the slogan of Nationalists politicians. Anatolia has been torn by war so many years that it offers poor returns to Turks who had been more fortunately located in Macedonia and other parts of Greece.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

Washington—No more significant move has been made in the presidential campaign than the defense of the LaFollette-Wheeler Independent following, delivered by Chairman Shaver of the Democratic management on his return to Washington from Chicago Sept. 4.

At Chicago Shaver received detailed reports on the political line-up through the west and northwest. His championship of the LaFollette insurgents was the result. It might be described as a diplomatic retreat by the Democrats from any fight to split the anti-Coolidge vote in those states.

Although not so stated, at least as yet, it is hoped that a gracious acknowledgement by the Independents of this courtesy may be that they will permit the anti-Coolidge vote in a number of contested eastern states to consolidate on Davis, instead of being split, to Coolidge's advantage between Davis and LaFollette.

The fact is that except in a few states bordering the "solid south"—such as Arkansas, Oklahoma and Missouri—the fight in the states west of the Mississippi River is a fight between Coolidge and LaFollette.

Even the strongly partisan Democratic Baltimore Sun concedes that this year the Democrats have no chance in California, Washington, Oregon, Michigan, Montana, Idaho, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Utah.

"This will be an unpleasant one for the Democrats back east," says the Sun in presenting its decisions as to the party's chances in those states.

"It sounds almost like one of Mr. Butler's periodic claims, but in spite of that it is true and no politically posted person in a position to get the facts has any other idea, no matter how he may talk publicly."

This being the case, what is to be done about it? Does that necessarily mean Democratic defeat?

Not at all says the Democratic strategists. At least 12 of these states are normally as rock-ribbed Republican as Texas is Democratic. Actually, the LaFollette strength in these states is the Democratic hope.

Normally they would go Republican. This year they will not go Democratic but they may go for LaFollette.

And every state carried by LaFollette cuts that many votes from the Coolidge column and is thus, indirectly a very real help to the Democrats.

Democratic "dope" on the comparative Coolidge-LaFollette letter strength in these 13 normally Republican states is that LaFollette is certain to carry five and may carry eight. LaFollette's conviction is that he will carry eight and has an even chance at the other five.

Republicans, naturally, deride both these claims.

By Democratic leaders who accept this analysis of the western situation, the logical lay of the campaign is declared to be an intensive and concentrated campaign in debatable eastern states, particularly Ohio, Indiana, New York, New Jersey and Maryland.

All of these states, with the solid south, would insure them a majority of the electoral college. Even two or three of them, provided LaFollette is able to run up a total of from 50 to 70 electoral votes in the west, would prevent Coolidge getting the necessary 200, they figure.

That would throw the lection into Congress, where, Democrats say, Davis might not win but Coolidge could not.

This is the situation, then, that lay behind Chairman Shaver's solicitude for fair play for LaFollette in the west. The bigger vote LaFollette can get in regular Republican state, the better chance of a Democratic victory. Every state lost to LaFollette in the west will be as good as a state won by the Democrats.

RESURRECTION OF DENVER DAN.

(By John C. Wright

Where the West begins there's many a man
Can tell you the story of Denver Dan:
He lived in the hills in a cabin quaint:
(He wasn't a sinner, nor he wasn't a saint),
Jes' happy-go-lucky as the winds that blow,
When the war broke out an' he had to go.
But soon he returned (a different man);
A coffin held all that was mortal of Dan.
"Them features are his'n" said his own little gal,
"I guess I know daddy, for he was my pal"
"Accept his insurance," the war office said;
"We've looked up his record and of course he is dead.
When, sufferin' mackerel, what should they see,
But Dan comin' home like he'd been on a spree!
"How come?" said his neighbors, "we thought you had died."
"Well, maybe I did, but I'm back," he replied;
"And jes' for to show you it's me that's on deck,
"Here's the wart on my thumb I was born with, by heck!"
'It's true!' said his daughter, I've played with it often."
So to get at the facts, they dug up the coffin.
Some people affirm the birthmark was there
When the coffin was opened; to this they will swear.
While others, when questioned, vehemently say
A bullet had carried the wart thumb away.
So out in the West where the friendships are stronger,
Where broncos are busted and the shadows grow longer,
Where people are truthful there is not a man
Can tell you exactly what happened to Denver Dan.

SMOKING ALTERS WOMEN'S FACES

Opinion of Noted Viennese Gynecologist—Lose Fair Complexion.

VIENNA, Sept. 13—Women who are heavy smokers lose their fair complexion much more quickly than non-smoking women, in the opinion of Dr R. Hofstatter, noted Viennese gynecologist, who has written a book entitled "The Smoking Woman."

The features of smoking women, he contends, are usually much sharper than those of non smokers. The more women smoke, the sharper the nose and chin are outlined and the skin becomes very taut.

The lips, says Dr. Hofstatter, lose their rosy color and become pale, while the corners of the lips show wrinkles prematurely and there is a tendency for the lower lip of a female smoke addict to project further than the upper lip Through this gradual change the features of the smoking woman become more and more masculine.

Dr. Hofstatter claims to have observed that heavy female smokers have a pronounced growth of beard.

The eye of strong female smokers undergoes a change, says Dr. Hofstatter. The lid rises and falls much more slowly. There is a tendency to stare. Some women even become cross-eyed as they smoke.

Among the women who smoke heaviest are teachers, students, female physicians, actresses, artists, and piano virtuosos.

Lone Journey Holds Terrors for Flapper

Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 13—Although it is the boast of "modern Eve" that she is quite able to look after herself, the days have yet to come when she will be able to do without aid and care when travelling about the country.

The latest report of the Travelers Aid Society which exists to help girls and women, shows that their work has grown greater than ever, and statistics for the past year state that 3,307 women and girls have been met at London stations and docks, 214 have been assisted abroad and 577 "stray cases" have been put on the right road.

A long journey alone, especially for the first time, still causes misgivings to English girls, and the idea of crossing London without escort appals some of them.

THOUGHTS OF A WARM REFRIGERATOR

"I'll say it's hot here in the sun on this back porch—after six months in a dark cellar. Oh, for a piece of ice! I'll have heat prostration in a minute.

"I know now why I was kept in the cellar all that time—they've got a bigger ice-box. Well, I may not hold as much ice, but I guess I'm pretty good yet. My owner brought a couple of strange ladies back here to look at me this morning. Whew! I've never been so hot in my life.

"Here are two more ladies to look at me, now. H'm—one of them says I'll do very nicely. What do you think? She wants to buy me. Please buy me and fill me up with ice!

"I'm on to all this now. I heard them tell my owner they saw her classified ad in the Daily News—that's why all these people have been coming here to look at at me.

"Hurrah! I'm sold to that lady who thinks I'll do very nicely. Oh, Lady—please give me a piece of ice!

Wears Overalls Like Man—Gets Big Thrill Out of Job—Pilot.

Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 13—The only girl in the field division of the United States Aerial Mail Service is Miss Helen Bullis, formerly of Omaha, Neb., stationed at Elko, Nevada.

Miss Bullis, bobbed hair, young and pretty, decided three years ago [illegible] at a Chicago institution [illegible] beat and dumb was not [illegible] exciting position, and cast her lot with the mailmen of the sky.

At Elko, attired in overalls, she works as any other member of the field staff and, according to her own admission, is just a little bit envious of the men pilots, for only men can fly.

"I never fail to get a thrill when I see an airplane come swooping down from the sky and hear its motor humming and throbbing," Miss Bullis said when in Salt Lake recently. "I think of the glorious adventure it must be to go skimming through the clouds, and how fortunate men are to be able to do these things. As it is, I have to content myself with asking the pilots how the weather was, and to listen to their interesting experiences."

Miss Bullis, learning daily from the men employes, hopes before long to know more about airplanes and airplane engines than any other girl in the world.

Veterans Capturing All Big Honors of Season--Ruth Holds Championship

Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—With the close of the major league race a trifle more than two weeks away, veterans, with years of service behind them, seem certain of capturing all of the honors of the 1924 season.

In the American league, Babe Ruth is without danger of losing the batting championship, as well as the home run title, the Babe, according to latest averages today, is hitting .385, thirty points ahead of Jameison of Cleveland, his closest rival. It is startling to note, however, that Ruth made only five hits in his last five games, but two of them were homers, which increases his home run total to forty-four.

The veteran Eddie Collins, captain of the Chicago White Sox, shining as a major league star for 19 years, will capture the base-stealing honors. He has stolen 39 to date, while Rice of Washington is next in line with twenty-three.

The Detroit Tigers, possibly with the strain of keeping in the pennant fight removed, went in for some heavy hitting in recent games, and advanced from fifth to second place in club batting. To accomplish this, the Tigers made a gain of four pints, while other teams generally were dropping. Cleveland held the lead in team batting, but slipped out of the .300 class to .299. The Tigers are hitting .293.

In individual batting, Speaker of Cleaveland and Collins of the White Sox exchanged places. Tris Speaker going into fourth place with .347, while Collins in batting fifth with .346. Falk of the White Sox is third with .351.

Other leading batters: Brassler, Detroit; Cobb, Detroit, .337; Boone, Boston. 325; Rice, Washington, .334; Goslin, Washington, .334; Miller, Philadelphia, 334; Heilman, Detroit, .333; Myatt, Cleveland .3228.

Rogers Hornsby, the National league's premier hitter, expects to finish the season with an average well above the .400 mark. He returned to the game after being out for ten days due to an injured back and in a week of action, dropped four pionts from his high mark, set the day he was injured. Hornsby's latest average is .428. Ase runner up to Hornsby, Zack Wheat of the Brooklyn team passed Hazen Cuyler of the Pirates by a margin of ten points. Wheat is hitting .379, with Cuyler .369. Then comes Young of New York with .347.

Max Carey, Pittsburgh veteran, added four stolen bases to his record, bringing his string up to 42. Fournier of the Dodgers continues to remain high in home run hitting leading with 26.

With a splurge of hitting again the Boston pitchers set a new single game record for the season, the Giants pushed themselves into the .300 class as a hitting team, and are leading with a percentage of .302. The Cardinals are second with .292.

Other leading batters: Bressler, Cincinnati. 341; Roush, Cincinnati, .339; Fournier, Brooklyn. 334; Kelley, New York .334; Hight, Brooklyn .326; Frisch, New York, 325; Bottomley, St. Louis .320; Blades, St. Louis .320.

Charlie Dressen, St. Paul third baseman, is the latest threat to Johnny Neun, also of St. Paul for the batting championship of the American Association. Dressen, by pasing three men, landed in second place with an average of .353, ten points behind the leading Neun, whose lead seems safe enough to carry him through to the finish.

Hodapp of Indianapolis moved in to third place with an average of .357, forcing Bunny Brief of Kansas City into fourth with .352. Neun seefs certain of carrying off the base stealing honors as he has stolen fifty, while Christenbury, also of St. Paul, his closest rival, has only twenty seven.

Elmer Smith of Louisville, with 26 homers to his credit, remains on top, followed by Reb Russell of Columbus with 24.

Other leading batters: Earl Smith, Minneapolis .350; Bell, Milwaukee .349; Murphy, Columbgus .345; Kirke, Minneapolis .343; Elmer Smith, Louisville .342; Krueger, Indianapolis .341; Russell, of Columbus .339.

Leading with an average of .388, J. Smith of Atlanta promises to continue his heavy, consistent batting to the end and finish the season as champion of the Southern Association. Burrus of Atlanta is running second with .373 having a two point margin over Carlyle of Memphis in third place. Neibaus of Chattanooga is fourth with .361.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 13.—Gov. Fields is given authority by the 1924 general assembly to remove from office any sheriff, jailer, constable or peace officer of the Commonwealth for neglect of duty or for malfeasance or misfeasance in office.

Grounds for suspension and removal from office are given as gross misconduct in office, bribery, gross neglect to enforce the laws, gross imorality or habitual drunkenness.
